

FOCuS

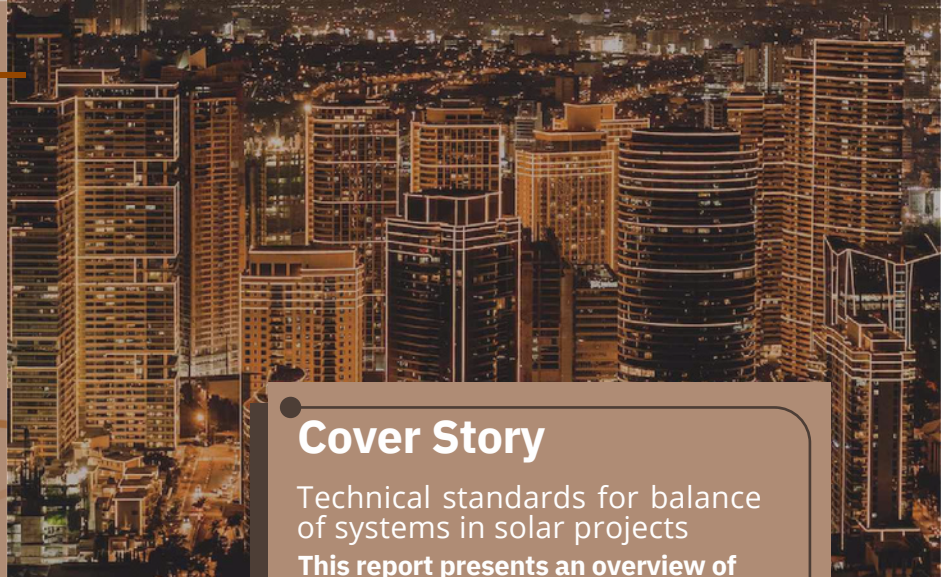

May 2022

In Focus

An Overview of Fans market and buying behaviour of Indian consumers

Energy-efficient or star rated fans currently have low penetration due to the lack of awareness and voluntary nature of star labeling.

Download report >>

Cover Story

Technical standards for balance of systems in solar projects

This report presents an overview of various technical standards prevalent in the solar power sector and typical implementation challenges leading to project performance issues.

Read complete report >>

Expert's Corner

“Changing clinical practices, behaviours, clinical protocols, increasing the resources in terms of preventing the infections, controlling them and also antimicrobial properties of copper really need to be looked at and how they can shape the healthcare facilities to help us give the optimum results for infection prevention and control.

Dr. B. K. Rana, Founder & Chief Executive Officer, Quality & Accreditation Institute

Read Report >

Watch Video

Copper at high-touch surface areas helps to prevent the spread of virus

Copper's anti-microbial properties are helpful in reducing bio and economic burden caused by COVID-19